Senator Henry M. Jackson receives standing ovation as he begins his keynote address at the NAACP Banquet.

Education, housing, labor, and (of course) the importance of voting was highlighted at the NAACP's Annual Freedom Fund Banquet held on October 31st at the Tacoma Bicentennial Pavillion. This was the kick-off for the N.W. area conference November 1st and 2nd. Dr. Delores Silas, President of Tacoma Branch Host Chapter was the mistress of ceremonies.

Judge Charles Vernon Johnson, National NAACP Board Member, reminded the audience of the choices they have, a choice to vote or to stay at home. Attorney Donald Haley, Northwest area President, followed by telling the listeners about those who died simply for the right to vote.

Senator Jackson was presented with a key to Tacoma by Mayor Parker and Mother J.W. Wesley received a life membership in the NAACP in recognition of her lifelong dedication for the cause of civil rights and the NAACP.

Reagan in – Carter out

Republicans sweep General Election

Gorton to Senate – Spellman to Olympia

Ronald Reagan wins over Jimmy Carter by a landslide as President of the United States.

The early results on TV predicting Reagan's victory appear to be responsible for the decrease in the number of late voters and therefore causing many of the local candidates to suffer.

Nevertheless, Slade Gorton defeated Magnuson as U.S. Senator and it looks like Norm Dicks is holding on in the 6th Congressional District. He expressed his disappointment in the defeat of his old friend Magnuson.

John Spellman won over Jim McDermott for Dixy's job. Ralph Munro appears to be the winner for Secretary of State.

The vote was Yes for the Charter, that means more campaigning for those four open County Council seats.

Ronald Wilson lost to Jim Salatino, however, he contends he will run for office again and sees his defeat as a victory path for the next time. He also revealed his concern with the fact that there are not enough Black Republicans around.

He graduated with honors from Brooklyn College, City University of New York in 1974 with a B.S. Degree in Chemistry. He received his M.D. Degree from Georgetown University School of Medicine in Washington, D.C. in June of 1978. He has been practicing in the Tacoma area since July 1979.

It is my belief, that from the beginning it was not intended for man to suffer the afflictions now termed human diseases. But much has transpired to the present time. What we intend to do in this and future issues, is to consider some of the commoner ailments, their signs, symptoms treatment and outcome. We will begin with a discussion of hypertension.

Hypertension or high blood pressure (HBR) affects nearly 24 million americans. Of these, only half kn ow that they have it. Of those who know the have HBR, only half of them are on medications. There is now much concern that many on medications are not being treated adequately. This means that only about 3 million (out of 24 million) are under good control. Because there are often no symptoms, many people don't know they have HBP. It is often on

Coping There is an Alternative

By Dr. C.W. Faulkner

Most people allow themselves to get into a rut because they do not search for a different solution to their problems. Most people allow themselves to get backed into a corner because they think that a specific solution to a problem is the only solution that will work for them.

Frustration and depression result from this dependency on limited potential solutions to problems. However, it should be realized that many solutions are waiting to be applied. If one action fails to resolve the difficulty in your life, then you should hastily try one idea after another until one works for you.

The happy and successful person is the person who is wise enough to know that one is never licked in the effort to be a success. One is not limited in the methods that can be used to achieve success. The person who accepts defeat merely because the attempt to resolve a problem did not work is the cause of the continuation of the problem and the resulting depression. The person who never stops trying is getting closer and closer to success with each effort.

Every successful person has had defeats on the road to success. Every person has had more successes in life than defeats. Few successes come easy. Success requires a continuous, positive, aggressive effort to find the solution and resolve the problem.

The person with a problem, and that includes everyone, should approach every problem the following way:

1. Picture yourself, in your imagination, as the victor, the winner.
2. Conceptualize the problem as a challenge to your perserverance. See it as an enemy waiting to be defeated.
3. Imagine yourself as stronger than the problem and superior to it.
4. Realize that you are a warrior or a well-trained soldier with a wide range of weapons at your command.
5. Determine that you will use every one of your weapons against the enemy and when you have exhausted your arsenal of weapons, you will re-arm yourself and continue you war against the problem.
6. Decide that you will not lose, you cannot lose and you will, ultimately, be the victor.
7. Understand that problems are actually challenges that make you stronger and stronger and stronger.
8. Always imagine yourself as the victor. Always picture yourself as winning. Always dream of your victory.
9. Then, make it all come true with your undiminishing perserverance.

Blacks and the Historical Preservation Movement in America (part 2 in a 2 part series)

By William R. Morris, Housing & Community Development Consultant

Minority communities had better begin to involve themselves more in local preservation programs or face the loss of valuable pieces of their history to the forces of redevelopment.

The 1970s were marked by a trend towards revitalizing older neighborhoods--and the ultimate displacement of Blacks and other low-income persons. In many American cities, individuals, governments and private enterprises are buying and renovating properties in the inner-cities. And, in recent years, conservationists have begun to set their sights on minority areas

Outside Looking In

Well it's over. The Republican wave swept through America. How much influence the Moral Majority and other Conservatives had on phenomenon remains to be seen. It appears as if alot of Americans voted their pocketbook. Ronald Reagan is the next President of the United States. However, a little closer to home, we have home-rule in Pierce County - 4 new county councilpersons. Norm Dicks appears to be our congressman. Lorraine is in the State Senate, Art Wang is the new Representative from the 27th District. Ron Wilson couldn't unseat Salitino. John Spellman is the next Governor and Slade Gorton retired Senator Magnuson.

What does all this mean to Blacks? Your guess is as good as mine. I have always said Blacks aren't doing so well now. I'd rather see fewer appointments to administrative positions if it means an increase of entry level jobs. A good economy means more jobs. Healthy big business means more blue collar jobs. A climate conducive to growth and stability in the economy encourages expansion which is also more jobs. A strong defense means more jobs in the production of war machines. I am trying to say, the outcome may not be as gloomy as the losers have predicted. "President Reagan is the president of all of the people." A quote from Ben Hooks on A.M. America.

The NAACP Northwest Area Conference was a success. My special thanks to Mrs. J. W. Wesley, who is in the NAACP in Tacoma. Allen Correll, board member and Director of the Human Relations Dept. in Tacoma delivered a stirring speech to conference participants at the Saturday luncheon. The Nominating Committee of NAACP, Tacoma will be reporting at the November branch meeting - 4th Monday, 7:00 p.m. at 1108 So. 13th, Tacoma.

Robert Bazemore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Bazemore, 11115-111th Street S.W. dined with his escort Miss Angela Craig, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Melton Jones, 10707-110th St. S.W. at the Fort Lewis Officer's Club before attending the "Tolo 80."

"Tolo 1980," a prom for those of the old school, was held at Lakes High School on Saturday, November 1st.

Miss Craig was very charming in her floor length light brown and white evening gown. Mr. Bazemore wore a black suit, white shirt and white boutonniere on his lapel. The two young people made a very handsome couple, looking forward to an enjoyable evening.

routine exam that HBP is found. Because one reading is not enough for the diagnosis, several readings in a quiet setting are needed. Any individual under age 50 with a B.P. higher than 140/90 after several readings, is said to have HBP. In 90 per-cent of cases of HBP, no cause is found, and we call this primary or essential HBP. The remaining 10 per-cent can be excluded most often by careful and complete medical history, physical exam, and laboratory tests. People with longstanding and untreated HBP run a higher risk of complications such as heart attacks, strokes, heart and kidney failure for unknown reasons HBP seems to be a far worse disease in Blacks than in whites. HBP tends to occur earlier in Blacks with the complication rate being higher as well. If you haven't had your B.P. taken recently, especially if you have a strong family history of HBP, do so soon.

Next issue, we will discuss the treatment of HBP.

as targets for preservation activities.

For example, in Savannah, Ga., approximately 600 homes in the city's Black Victorian District are being acquired for restoration over the next 10 years. A large project in Pittsburgh's low income Manchester Historic District is restoring 1,200 houses. In Virginia, the rebirth of Richmonds Black Jackson Ward is occuring as a result of historic preservation activities.

Brooklyn has its widely known Bedford Stuyvesant Restoration, Cincinnati its Mount Auburn, Memphis its Beale Street and Atlanta its Sweet Auburn. The story is repeated in St. Louis, San Francisco, Charleston and St. Paul. And there are more, but suffice it to say this "movement" is certain to mushroom in the years ahead; and Blacks should get on board if their culture and their presence in the cities are to be assured.

What can be done to protect minority interests? A good point to start would be with the churches, lodges, and established social and civic clubs serving Black communities. To reflect broad community support, a coalition of groups might be formed to sponsor the restoration of a valued but deteriorating property, such as an old theater, a lodge hall, a turn-of-the century church, the home of a pioneer citizen, or a historic cemetary.

Each state has its own "Historical Preservation Office," which receives Federal grants for local projects. Apercentage of the funds are expected to be spent in minority areas. Black politicos should also press the Governor for appointments to these traditionally white commissions.

A good source for assistance is "The National Trust for Historic Preservation," a private organization chartered by Congress in 1949 and supported with matching federal funds. The Trust can help citizen groups obtain official recognition of the historic value of their neighborhood. They also offer financial and training help and publications to member groups. A special "Endangered Properties Program" may help save historic structures from demolition or sale, or preserve neighborhoods with distinctive properties. Membership in the Trust is $25; write to them at 1785 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington, DC 20036 for more information.
